HARNEY COUNTY RESTORATION COLLABORATIVE

SUPPORTED BY

HIGH DESERT
PARTNERSHIP

A Collaborative Conservation Partnership

PURPOSE

Creating fire tolerant and ecologically diverse forests and improving the ability to restore forests on a landscape scale while creating jobs and industries.

FOCUS

Finding solutions to improve the health and sustainability of Malheur National Forest while improving the economic and social conditions of Harney County.

PARTNERS

Land management agencies, conservation organizations, the timber industry, landowners, ranchers and interested citizens collaborating together toward consensus.

SUCCESS

Positive ecological, economic and social impacts for Harney County. 100,000's+ acres of forest restoration plus job and industry creation.

OUR FUTURE

Once a county with a thriving timber industry, Harney County now has no infrastructure for the small diameter timber in the forest. In an effort to address the economic and social challenges we face we are committed to building healthy, resilient forests while creating jobs and new industry.
